MUSEUM LECTURE November 4, 8:30 p.m.

M. E. L. Mallowan, one of the world's most distinguished archaeologists, will give a lecture EXCAVATIONS IN ASSYRIA, NIMRUD AND ITS REMAINS, Friday evening, November 4 at 8:30 in the auditorium of The Cleveland Museum of Art. Color slides will illustrate the talk.

Dr. Mallowan, a graduate of Oxford, has been on expeditions to Ur of Chaldees, Nineveh and Iraq where he was also Director of the British School of Archaeology for nearly fifteen years. He is currently a Research Fellow at All Souls College in Oxford and was professor of Western Asiatic Archaeology at the University of London, also for fifteen years. He is president of the British Institute of Persian Studies and editor of Iraq and the Near Eastern and Western Asiatic series of Penguin Books. He is author of six books on his various expeditions and has just published the results of the excavations in Nimrud.
